CENTRAL PROCUREMENT UNIT (CPU) REPORT ON ACTIVITIES IN 2018

1. INTRODUCTION

1. This report presents a summary of the activities and procurement statistics of the Central Procurement Unit (CPU) in 2018 and compares key data with those of the previous three years of operation. Now the CPU is staffed with a total of five which include the Head of the Unit, three Operational Procurement Officers and a Policy Procurement Officer.
2. Even though there were earlier challenges in implementing the system, the CPU has shown a lot of improvement in terms of tender process up until contract awarding. One of the improved areas of operation was the submission of an annual procurement plan by each and every line ministry. This has been a major challenge each year from the start, until the beginning of this year when there was improvement in submission of annual procurement plans from line ministries and departments. Another area of improvement which will be discussed later in this report, is the implementation of tendering of works which is something that should have started in the beginning but due to some uncertainties such as limited budget for tender requirement, the tender of works officially came into effect in FY 2016.
3. In terms of capacity building which was one of the many priorities in the CPU 2018 Work Plan, staff have undertaken professional development training offered by the UNDP in association with the Chartered Institute of Procurement and Supply (CIPS). The program is offered in levels starting with Level 2 – Introductory Certificate in Public Procurement, Level 3 – Advanced Certificate in Public Procurement, Level 4 – Diploma in Strategic Public Procurement, and finally Level 5 – Advanced Diploma in Procurement and Supply. The three original staff of CPU have now been trained to Level 3 and the two staff who joined in mid-2016 to Level 2.

2. SUMMARY OF PROCUREMENT TRANSACTIONS FOR 2018

4. Data on procurement transactions undertaken during the year are contained in Attachment 1: Contract Register for Major Procurement 2018 and Attachment 2: Contract Register for Minor Procurement 2018. A comparison of principal statistics with those of 2018, 2018, and 2016, is given in Table 1 below.
5. These statistics reveal the following:
 - (a) By value, the total amount of procurement passing through the new system decreased from $12.44 million in 2016 to $7.28 million in 2017, and then increased to $9.89 million in 2018.
 - (b) The total number of transactions increased from 707 in 2017 to 870 in 2018, an 18.7% increase.
 - (c) The average transaction value of major procurement increased from $44,212.27 in 2017 to $46,563.30 in 2018, a 5% increase.

Table 1 – Comparison of Main Procurement Statistics 2016-2018

Indicator	Minor Procurement			Major Procurement			Totals
	2016	2017	2018	2016	2017	2018	2016	2017	2018

Direct contracting (% by $)	18.6%	1.5%	42.8%	49.5%	42.8%	51.0%	47.3%	37.1%	49.8%

- (d) The number of major procurement transactions utilising competitive methods increased from 57 in 2017 to 59 in 2018, an increase of 3.4%. However, the total value of the competitively procured transactions increased by 13%, from $3.60 million in 2017 to $4.13 million in 2018.
- (e) The number of directly contracted major procurement transactions, i.e. transactions captured by basic paperwork such as a Procurement Proposal or invoices but with contract awarded without competitive bidding, increased from 85 in 2017 to 122 in 2018. However, these numbers reflect the procurement of goods, services and works in preparation for the PLG Summit in 2018 and PIF in 2019, which were done under the direct contracting method due to shortage of time.
- (f) The value of major procurement transactions awarded without competitive bidding ($4.30 million) was slightly more than that of major procurement conducted under the competitive bidding process ($4.13 million). However, the total number of directly contracted major procurement packages (122) was just over double the number that were contracted competitively (59).

3. ACHIEVEMENTS OF 2018

3.1 A Review of the Procurement Processes and the Construction Contract, During Phase 1(Basement Cistern) of Tuvalu's New Court House Project

- 6. A report has been prepared by a qualified civil engineer temporarily resident in Funafuti for the Ministry of Finance & Economic Development (MFED), and reviews the procurement and construction contract practices during Phase 1 (underground cistern) of the New Court House (NCH) project in Funafuti, Tuvalu.
- 7. The procuring ministry was the Office of the Prime Minister (OPM, the Employer as per contract) and the successful contractor was TnU Construction Services (TnU), who were engaged under a 'Labour Only' type contract (GoT Contract No. OPMOCB-NCH01/17).
- 8. Phase 1 of the project was characterised by long delays in works, the value of contracted works doubling, and extra material costs incurred by the Employer. This review investigates the reasons behind this, as well as issues in procurement, contractual processes and management.
- 9. Along with issues in the procurement and contract management of Phase 1. Material quantity errors and the costs incurred due to these, estimates of variation costs ($262,751), avoidable costs ($172,511), total material costs ($1,015,566) and total cost of Phase 1 ($1,526,839). The construction program was delayed numerous times due to incorrect material procurement and delivery delays.
- 10. The review found a lack of understanding of the 'Labour Only' contract by the Employer's representative from PWD (particularly the effective supply of materials), as well as generally poor construction project management (planning, problem solving, supervision, budgeting, record keeping) and contract management (procurement records, meeting minutes, inspections). This led to a large proportion of the cost and time increases during phase 1.

11. Important aspects of the Public Procurement Regulations 2014 (PPR) were also not complied with.
12. A lump sum contract (supply and build) would have provided the GoT better value and put the risk of material supply (that caused by far the most variation costs) onto the contractor. Considering the time, difficulty and cost in acquiring all construction materials and equipment into Tuvalu, construction projects pose a significant risk to the GoT. Specific expertise (i.e. construction management) is currently in short supply and needs to be boosted in order to lower this risk for the GoT when undertaking construction projects similar to the NCH. It is important to note that, at the end of the day, all risk still ends at the Employer, so it is in GoT's interests to ensure accuracy of information given, effectively supervise projects and work collaboratively with contractors to achieve a quality building. The procuring ministry was the Office of the Prime Minister (OPM, the Employer as per contract) and the successful contractor was TnU Construction Services (TnU), who were engaged under a 'Labour Only' type contract (GoT Contract No. OPMOCB-NCH01/17).
13. Phase 1 of the project was characterised by long delays in works, the value of contracted works doubling, and extra material costs incurred by the Employer. The review investigates the reasons behind this, as well as issues in procurement, contractual processes and management.

3.2 A Review of the Procurement Processes and the Construction Contract, for the Solid Waste Agency of Tuvalu's (SWAT) Waste Transfer Station

14. The report reviews the procurement and construction processes related to the new Solid Waste Agency of Tuvalu's (SWAT) Waste Transfer Building in Funafuti, Tuvalu. SWAT is part of the Ministry of Home Affairs and Rural Development (MHARD). Time and cost in this project increased dramatically and this report seeks to understand the causes behind this.
15. The 'Labour Only' contract for construction of the warehouse, was put to tender as per the Public Procurement Regulations (2014) for 'Open Shopping', and was awarded to TnU Constructions for $68,559.20, with an initial construction period of 8 weeks. There were numerous delays and compensation claims due to material shortages and other variations.
16. The final value of the contract, including all approved variations, was approximately $208,000 (3 x original) and duration was 40 weeks (5 x original).
17. The contract reviews summarised in the above two sub-sections give rise to concerns that the 'usual' way of implementing civil works contracts – separate contracts for materials supply and labour-only construction – is producing delayed and more expensive outputs. The NCH Basement construction overran the awarded contract values by just over 100% and took double the length of time allowed in the original contract. Similarly, the SWAT Building cost three times the awarded contract values and took five times the estimated supply and construction period to complete. In both cases, stronger contract management could have reduced the cost overruns and time delays, but the practice of splitting materials supply and labour-only construction provides fertile ground for experienced and claims-conscious contractors to take full advantage.
18. The two reports made a series of recommendations, which are reproduced in Attachment 1

3.3 Recruitment of Consulting Services

19. The competitive recruiting of consulting services is a mandatory requirement under the new procurement law for any value above the minor procurement threshold.
20. In 2018, three (3) individual consultants were appointed: (i) a Supervision Consultant Expert to comply with Banking Commission requirements; (ii) TMTI Consulting Engineer; and (iii) a consultant for developing a User Pay System for the Department of Waste Management. One consulting firm was also appointed for conducting audit of State Owned Enterprises for the Auditor General's Office, being the KPMG of Fiji.

3.4 Staff Training & Workshops

21. The Procurement TA continued to give intensive training to the CPU staff during the year and, through remote support from his home base, guided the CPU through the procurement process on a significant proportion of the transactions.
22. Ministries and departments consultations and refresher workshops on procurement process were ongoing programs during the year.
23. Two staff of CPU attended the 4th annual e-Government Procurement Conference in Washington DC, and gained knowledge of evolving e-procurement proficiency and new methods and innovative tools for e-Procurement systems' modernization. Presenters of the conference demonstrated e-Procurement systems which were effectively and efficiently running in their respective countries such as in South Korea, Georgia, Indonesia, Caribbean and Latin American countries and of course Tuvalu and Cook Islands.

4. ISSUES DURING THE YEAR

4.1 The Overall Procurement System

24. The overall procurement system continues to be a major challenge to government agencies, line ministries and departments in 2018. This year is the fifth year since the establishment and enforcement of the Public Procurement Act and Regulations. Despite further training and refresher courses, lack of knowledge and understanding of the process itself remains the biggest problem and main contributing factor to non-compliance with the Regulations.
25. A significantly high proportion of major procurement items such as those in the marine department, medical, travel and construction sectors have by-passed the competitive bidding process. However, these numbers reflect the procurement of goods, services and works in preparation for the PLG Summit in 2018 and PIF 2019, which were done under the direct contracting method due to pressure of time.

4.2 Procurement Planning

26. The continuing absence of some annual procurement plans for 2018 remained as a problem within our department. CPU cannot aggregate common user items from all ministries and departments into larger packages to maximise economy of scale when not all plans are submitted.
27. One consequence of inadequate procurement planning is that major procurement transactions tend to bunch towards the end of the financial year when insufficient time remains to carry out competitive bidding. The contract register shows that the Procurement Proposals of 119 out of the total of 181 major procurement transactions (34%) were carried out by Direct Contracting, as there was insufficient time remaining to conduct competitive procurement. This was, however, an improvement over the 61% for 2017.

28. Further consideration by CPU suggests that the issue of insufficient time is, in many cases, directly related to the single year budgeting now practised by the Government. The cycle from approval of a Procurement Proposal, calling and evaluating bids, awarding a contract and awaiting delivery of goods or construction work ordered, is only likely to be completed within one financial year if it is commenced very early in a financial year. CPU would strongly support changing to a medium-term budget forecasting (MTBF) approach, covering, say, a rolling three-year budget forecasting period. Contracts that currently have to be made to fit the remaining time in a financial year could then be awarded spanning more than one financial year, and unused funds could be carried forward into the next financial year rather than being surrendered to Treasury. Towards the end of 2018, MFED establish a Special Infrastructure Fund that allows remaining funds for infrastructure projects to carry forward to the next financial year, so this issue should reduce in significance in future years.

4.3 Procurement of Goods

29. The procuring of goods has shown quite an improved picture during the year, however there is still a need to manage and plan procurable items so that all are procured using the competitive process rather than relying on the non-competitive direct contracting method.
30. With reference to the Major Procurement register in Annex 1 of this report, the number of procured goods using the competitive bidding process during the year totalled more than one hundred transactions.

4.4 Procurement of Works

31. The practice of procuring materials and labour separately for construction projects remained in force for the whole of 2018. A lack of understanding of the ‘Labour only’ contract by the Employers representative PWD (particularly the effective supply of materials), as well as generally poor construction project management (planning, problem solving, supervision, budgeting, record keeping) and contract management (procurement records, meeting minutes, inspections). This led to a large proportion of the cost and time increases during project implementation.
32. Discussions on improving this area of procurement were frequently raised during Procurement Review Committee’s meeting in the year with a view to securing the cooperation of Public Works Department in preparing technical documentation for Tender of Works that can be made available to local contractors.
33. Construction projects on the outer islands that are funded under the Special Development Expenditure (SDE) budget administered by the Ministry of Home Affairs, are still entirely managed by the island councils using community participation. Building materials are again procured as ‘goods’ and transhipped through Funafuti. Procurement work has not worked well in this area.

4.5 Procurement of Non-Consulting Services

34. Procurement of non-consulting services such as maintenance and repair works have gradually improved where three quotations are obtained at ministry level before the service is done.
35. However, the majority of major non-consulting services were procured outside the competitive process. Major procurement such as vessel maintenance and vehicle maintenance were procured using the Direct Contract method that involved zero competition.
36. The contract register for major procurement showed that vessel maintenance, Government house maintenance, office maintenance, hospital maintenance were all procured under the direct contract method of procurement. Even some of the minor non-consulting services such as vehicle repair, office furniture repairs were procured without the procurement competitive process.

4.6 Procurement of Consulting Services

37. Procurement of consulting services during the year was a mandatory requirement under the Public procurement regulation and Act. However only a few consulting services were procured under the competitive process.

4.7 Correct Procedure for Minor Procurement

38. In 2018, a gradual improvement on minor procurement process has been seen and there is an increase in the number of transactions for minor procurement compared to previous years.
39. CPU conducted several refresher training workshops for line ministries and departments during the year for the knowledge and understanding of officers on the competitive process that should be taken place at the ministry level. Still a higher number of people absent during these refresher workshops.

4.8 Bidding Periods

40. Bidding periods remained a challenge to all procurement process users within the Government. The bidding periods for OS and OCB methods of procurement were amended in late 2015 to 20 and 35 calendar days respectively.
41. Due to lack of planning, other procuring entities/client insist to further reduce the bidding periods just to meet the inaction and failure to produce procurement plans at the beginning of the financial year. Further reduction of bidding periods is not recommended. A few extra days saved will not make any material difference to the duration of procurement transaction but would have the negative effect of reducing the time available to bidders to obtain their costs and prepare good quality bids. The use of overly short bidding periods has been shown in other countries to result in higher bid prices, as bidders tend to include a safety factor if they have had insufficient time to obtain reliable prices from manufacturers.

4.9 Record Keeping

42. Procurement transaction records are currently kept in electronic copy. Hard copies of Procurement proposals submitted from line ministries are kept, scanned copies stored in the CPU share file in the Government network and original copies are returned to line ministries.
43. A major issue in keeping hard copies is that there is not enough work space for storage. Several requests have been made to relocate the unit but due to overall lack of office space within the Government building, the unit cannot shift nor add more office furniture to accommodate the need for better filing system.
44. The need for an additional staff like a clerical officer to do all the filing and records with a better knowledge on filing system is very crucial as results of poor record keeping in the past years become a major issue particularly on internal and external reporting.

5. SUMMARY FOR 2018

5.1 Key Achievements

45. The following is a summary of key achievements in public procurement during 2018:
 - (a) CPUs Annual Report for 2017 was completed and approved by the Minister of Finance.
 - (b) Round the year workshop training and consultations were conducted on the procurement process and preparation of Annual Procurement Plans, for line ministries and local vendors.
 - (c) The Contract Register first established in 2014 to record details of all procurement activities and contracts entered into by the GOT, was continued through 2018.
 - (d) A Procurement Complaints and Appeal Procedure, Debarment Procedure and draft Public Procurement Manual has been produced and endorsed by Minister of Finance.
 - (e) 59 Major Procurement transactions were completed by the CPU through competitive bidding processes and CPU assisted on direct contracting of a further 122 transactions.
 - (f) Total of 689 known Minor Procurement transactions were recorded by the CPU.

5.2 Some Impacts to Date

Tender of Works

46. As previously mentioned, tendering of Works has not fully functioned as required under the Regulations due to the cabinet decision made in late 2015 to tender works “where appropriate.” In practice, not all works were tendered and some major works were solely done by the Public Works Department during the year with no information provided to the CPU.

Tender of Goods

47. CPU found the system to be the most cost effective and efficient in terms of competition for the best value for money. The two cases below best defined an insight of how the system has supported the government in terms of cost-saving in the category of major procurement.

a. Major Procurement

- i. A competitive tender for the Ministry of Home Affairs & Rural Development, reference: Item No.1 DRD 01/2018 supply of building materials for Funafuti Housing Project, with a budget of $180,000, was awarded a contract amount of $162,411.66 to a local based supplier. The Ministry managed to save 9.8% of the total proposed budget – i.e. $17,588.34
- ii. A competitive tender for the Ministry of Home Affairs reference: Item No. 2 DWM 01/2018 – supply of building materials for Transfer and Recycling Station Water cistern, with a budget of $165,680 was awarded with contract amount of $120,697.15 to an overseas based supplier. About 27% of the total estimated value of the project was saved.

System as a Software - Asia Pacific Public Electronic Procurement Network

48. ADB continued its pilot phase on providing Pacific countries include Tuvalu with Electronic Government Procurement Network program under an ADB initiative introduced in 2015. During, 2018, ADB organised the third Asia Pacific Public Electronic Procurement Network in Tbilisi, Georgia which discussed variety of topic and sessions on emerging IT applications and systems for e-procurement and innovative e-Government procurement approaches and implementation experiences from selected member countries.

5.3 Outstanding Matters

49. Matters to be addressed includes the following:

Procurement Policy

- (1) Approve and Endorsement of Public Procurement Manual, Complaint Mechanism and Debarment Procedure by Cabinet. Implementation of these mechanisms with a trial period of six months so that feedback may be collected and incorporated for improvements.
- (2) Continue trial of the SBDs such as Limited Shopping (minor & major), Open Shopping (Standard Bidding Documents) and Open Competitive Bidding before ratifying and issue by Minister of Finance.
- (3) Identify areas in the Public Procurement Regulation that need to be reviewed and amended to improve the procurement system.

Operational Procurement

- (4) To conduct training workshops or consultation for preparation of line ministry procurement plans.

- (5) Develop standard bidding documents for long term agreements including food supplies for government vessels and the hospital, inter-island vessel maintenance and repair, GOT's medical referral scheme and official travel.
 - (6) To continue collaboration with departments and Ministries procurement officers particularly on procurement planning and the correct procedures for minor procurement.
 - (7) Establish a consolidated Annual Procurement Plan for 2020 after timely submission of procurement plans from line Ministries, to enable to procure common user items in bulk to create savings.
 - (8) Seeking of funding to accommodate professional training on Public Procurement for CPU staff.

(Reference in text – para 18)

1. Labour only contracts are open to large claims by contractors if GoT does not have skilled people to manage the construction process efficiently and effectively. They should not be the preferred method for constructing medium to large buildings, where responsibility for ordering and supplying materials should be placed with the contractor.
 2. When separate materials supply and labour-only construction contracts are used for smaller buildings, the construction contracts should not commence until all materials for several months work have arrived in Funafuti, their specifications and quantities have been checked, and they are ready to be issued to the appointed contractor.
 3. Separate contracts should not be considered for two integral parts of the same building, as the discontinuity of construction may introduce factors not considered by the designer.
 4. Construction projects the size of the NCH basement and SWAT Building require a full-time, experienced Construction Project Manager, to safeguard the Employer's interests.
 5. Much of the delays and cost increases on the two buildings studied could have been avoided, or at least reduced, with more care on ordering of building materials and checking of quantities required.
 6. A defects liability period is standard for all contracts and exists to ensure the contractor takes responsibility for his workmanship. Halving the period, as was negotiated for the SWAT Building, is against the Employer's interests and should not be done.
 7. Site record keeping is vital when cost overruns, delays and disputes arise. The GOT's Construction Project Manager must keep comprehensive records, including dated photographs, all dated exchanges and agreements with the contractor, and a diary.
 8. When a bid validity period is about to expire and award of contract has not been made, as happened for the SWAT labour only bids, all bidders must be asked by CPU whether they agree to extend the validity of their bids for an additional and specific period. If they agree, there must be no cost increases on account of 'delay' after the contract is awarded.

Attachments 2 and 3 after this page use abbreviations for methods of procurement, listed below. A full explanation of each method may be found in the Public Procurement Regulations.

For procurement of Goods and Works:

LS Limited Shopping
OS Open Shopping
OCB Open Competitive Bidding
DC Direct Contracting (non-competitive)

For procurement of Consultancy Services:

QCBS Quality and Cost Based Selection
QBS Quality Based Selection
ICS Individual Consultant Selection
SSS Single Source Selection (non-competitive)
